A NOTE FROM THE AUTHOR

This record of the Goudie Family has been compiled by Stanley Abbott, No. 24 in descendants of William Goudie. If anyone is left out, it is because I didn't know about them. If the information is inaccurate or incomplete, I refuse to take the blame. I did my best.

This work has been very interesting. It started several years ago, when I found the pictures of William and Grace Goudie and didn't know they were my grandparents, because they died before I was born. Then I found out about the descendants of Tom Goudie in the West and Canada, and later the descendants of John Goudie, of whom I knew nothing. When in Scotland in 1952, I stopped at Kilmarnock, which is noted for its Scotch woollens and is located about 40 miles south of Glasgow, but was unable to find the names of the parents of either William or Grace. You can be thankful that they decided to come to America, for Scotland is a rocky country and a hard place to make a living. You are living a better life because they had the courage to move.

In a little over 100 years, the direct descendants of this couple number 150 people. They seem to be a good class of people, none very rich, none very poor, none very bad.

To help you use this book to the best advantage, bear in mind that the numbers to the left represent the order in which they appeared in our record. If these numbers are in heavy type, it means that there is more information about this person later on and the same number will appear again in the center of the page. Therefore you can follow a name either forward or backward to see who the children or parents were. We have made this record small so that you can tape it in the back of your Bible where it will not be lost.

If you like the book, write and tell me. It will pay me in some degree for the time and effort it took to put it together.
